

HEAVEN'S SORROW FOR DEAD CHRIST

Form Sweeps City While Devout Folk in Churches Commemorate the Crucifixion.

A SYMBOLIC CLIMAX

Burial of Christ Re-enacted at Solemn Services at Church of Mount St. Sepulchre.

While thousands of Washingtonians knelt in meditation and prayer upon the anniversary of the Saviour's death in many churches yesterday afternoon, the heavens darkened, peals of thunder came from the clouds and lightning flashed across the sky, followed by torrents of rain.

It was, indeed, a melodramatic climax for the afternoon exercises on Good Friday; a frowning and weeping of the heavens as symbolic of the death of Christ on the cross at Calvary.

Solemn services were held last evening at the Church of Mount St. Sepulchre in Brookland, in which the "burial of Christ" was re-enacted by the Franciscan priests of the monastery. The Franciscans formed a procession in the sacristy and walked slowly to the altar of Mount Calvary, where the first sermon was heard.

The procession was headed by four acolytes, bearing lighted candles, and behind them were the priests, who bore a figure of the dead Christ. The figure was placed on the stone of unction above the altar of Thabor and remained there while the priests went to other altars and heard sermons in different languages.

Later it was incensed and placed in the holy sepulchre, the doors of which were closed after the processions withdrew.

Pilgrimages Are Made.

Thousands of Catholics yesterday made pilgrimages to different churches in the Capital.

Special exercises were held in Protestant and Roman Catholic institutions, as well as the Fifth Baptist, the Presbyterian Church of the Covenant, the Church of the New Jerusalem, and scores of other places of worship.

A choir of 100 voices sang Stainer's "Crucifixion" last evening at 8 o'clock at the Church of the Covenant and the large audience was addressed by the pastor, Rev. Charles Wood. At the same hour, the special choir of the Fifth Baptist church was heard in sacred selections, and Rev. John E. Briggs, the pastor, delivered a short talk. A special vesper service will be held at the Church of the New Jerusalem this afternoon at 8 o'clock, that congregation having listened to the sermon of the pastor, Rev. Paul Sperry, yesterday morning.

Mgr. Russell, pastor of St. Patrick's Roman Catholic church, preached on "The Crucifixion" at that institution last evening following the tenebrae, which was celebrated at 7:30 o'clock. Masses of the presanctified were said yesterday morning in all Catholic churches.

Episcopal churches held the three hours of meditation upon the last words of Jesus yesterday morning and afternoon.

SEEN AND HEARD

CONTINUED FROM PAGE EIGHT.

Ship was occupied and lots of places were slept in that were not berths. As, for instance, the lounges in the smoking room were all sold and made up as beds each night. The boats run very full anyway, and just now all the Americans who can raise the money to get out are doing it. There were a lot of refugees from Tampico, where the scare seems to have been pretty bad.

Mr. E. H. Thomas, of Buffalo, president of the Thomas Motor Company, and his wife and son had been visiting their ranch near Tampico. They won't visit it again until things are more settled.

At least three-quarters of the passengers were women and children. The male members of their families had hurried them away while they stayed behind to look after their affairs.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Douchy and their two sons, of San Antonio, Texas, were in Tampico when the scare broke out. Railroad traveling from Tampico was out of the question. You simply took your life in your hands to attempt it, and there is no boat running from Tampico either to Galveston or to New Orleans. Mr. Douchy and some other Americans tried to charter a boat to take them to the nearest American port, but none could be found, and they had to go all around the gulf to get back to his home in Texas, which seemed only a stone's throw away on the map; that is, he had to go to Vera Cruz, Progreso, Havanna, Key West and thence by rail to San Antonio.

Also among the passengers we had a huge and ferocious-looking person who had been caught trying to blow up the Tampico breakwater, had been sentenced to be shot and had somehow got out of it.

Also an Italian enthusiast for the people's rights, who, under an assumed name, is now an official of the Mexican government. In Italy his anarchistic operations brought him a death sentence, and he is there supposed to have been hung, but they hung the wrong man.

Then there were some American adventurers, sports and gamblers and a man who came to see a friend off, got a jag aboard and was carried off to New York with no other luggage than a toothbrush.

It was a mixed, but certainly an interesting ship's company. Not one of them all who was not out of the ordinary.

RED CROSS SUPPLIES BLOCKED.

Shipments Unable to Reach Central Powers—Warehouse Crowded.

Owing to the strictness of the blockade of the allied powers against the central powers, the American Red Cross for months past has been unable to secure required permits from the allied powers for the shipment of supplies of any kind to the central powers.

As a consequence such large amounts of designated supplies for the central powers, which have been received for several months past by the Red Cross, have had to be stored at its Brooklyn terminal warehouse, that it now becomes necessary, on account of lack of further storage room in the warehouse, to request all Red Cross chapters and other relief organizations not to send any more such supplies to the warehouse for shipment until further notice.

Urges Release of American.

A resolution requesting the President to urge the House with a statement of what he has done in compliance with the United States statutes to secure the release of Samuel Schwartz, an American citizen, imprisoned in England, was introduced in the House yesterday by Representative Bennett, of New York. Mr. Bennett charged on the floor of the House that Schwartz, a naturalized citizen of Austria, had been imprisoned by the British authorities for noncompliance with the registry act and that the State Department has failed to intervene in his behalf.
